

The Department of Crop and Soil Science at Oregon State University invites applications for a Postdoctoral Scholar to work with Dr. Valtcho Jeliakov on a USDA-funded project developing natural product-based sprout inhibitors for sustainable potato storage. The position involves laboratory and storage experiments, microencapsulation and analytical characterization (e.g., NMR), data analysis, and contributions to publications and student mentoring. This is a full-time, 12-month position based in Corvallis, Oregon. Please submit a CV, cover letter, and references. Contact: Valtcho.jeliakov@oregonstate.edu